

Solution Provider: Thinking Inside of the Box, Compressor Spare Parts Kits

By Tim Zuccarelli, Director of Sales, Marketing, & Development

We always hear how important it is to think “outside of the box”, but one of Industrial Gas Technology’s latest creations does just the opposite. Our exclusive compressor spare parts kits for Blackmer® and Corken® compressors gives you everything you need inside one box. Of course there are parts kits available from the manufacturer for their compressors, but not like ours. The spare parts kits from Industrial Gas Technology have preventative maintenance in mind, and include all of the necessary parts for one year of preventative maintenance and inspection per the manufacturers’ recommendations.

It’s simple: a single box of spare parts with inventory card, and a cost approximately ten percent less than buying the parts individually.

Since rolling out our spare parts kits in January 2010, the response has been amazing. Together with our exclusive Maintenance Program, which offers extended warranties on pumps and compressors, many of our customers have taken advantage of the cost, space, and time savings our spare parts kits deliver. In a day where money and time is tight Industrial Gas Technology is continually bringing fresh solutions to the marketplace.
